a) NOCTURNE.

Th. Kullak.

Fr. Chopin, Op. 27. N<sup>o</sup> 2.

I. Lento sostenuto. ♩. = 50.

a) The present nocturne divides best into strophes, for it does not develop into groups of parallel subjects, in the strict sense. Even the base moves from beginning to end in homogeneous figures. I have assumed eight strophes, which produce variety of shading, without offering essentially new contents. The chief strophes are the Ist, II<sup>d</sup>, and the VIIIth.

Strophe III is the transposed repetition of the II<sup>d</sup>.

Strophe VI the repetition of the Ist.

" IV the repetition of the Ist.

" VII " " " " II<sup>d</sup>.

" V the transposed repetition of the II<sup>d</sup>.

" VIII " real Coda of the composition.

The repetitions appear with continually increasing richness of outfit, in point of both modulation and figuration, so that Karasowski rightly says: "the lovely nocturne contains an almost lavish abundance of the finest embellishments". Indeed, its execution demands great technical proficiency ennobled by the most cultivated taste.

III

riten. - a tempo

IV

Sixth system of musical notation. The right hand has a section marked 'riten.' followed by 'a tempo'. The left hand accompaniment is consistent. The system is marked with 'Ped.' and asterisks.

This page of musical notation consists of seven systems of staves, each with a treble and bass clef. The music is written in a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat) and a 3/4 time signature. The notation includes various musical markings and performance instructions:

- System 1: Starts with leggeriss. and dolce. It features intricate fingerings and dynamic markings like ped. and \ ped.*
- System 2: Continues the dolce section with similar fingerings and dynamic markings.
- System 3: Includes a cresc. marking and continues the melodic and harmonic development.
- System 4: Shows further melodic lines with detailed fingerings.
- System 5: Features a section marked VI, indicating a new section or variation. It includes dynamic markings like f and sf.
- System 6: Continues the f section with complex rhythmic patterns.
- System 7: Concludes with cresc. and con forza markings, leading to a powerful final passage.
